A Treasurer's Report

The Endowment Fund

News of the Order

WHERE THE MONEY COMES FROM

Two reports, one by the national treasurer and the other by a member of the national endowment fund board, in this issue of THE LOGOS give a better idea of what is meant in the repeated references on this page to life memberships and the national endowment fund. It is life memberships that are the life blood of the national fraternity. It is from them that the national endowment fund is derived, from which, as is explained in the reports just mentioned, is derived income for operating expenses and for loans to active members of the fraternity to help them through school.

A life membership also means life subscription to THE LOGOS. Most important of all, life membership means just what the name implies—life membership.

Following are additions to the roll since the last issue of THE LOGOS:

A New Directory Needs Your Help

A new fraternity directory is scheduled for publication this year, probably in conjunction with the next issue of THE LOGOS. To make the directory useful the addresses therein contained must be accurate and up-to-date. Every member of the fraternity, regardless of whether he may believe the national secretary has his correct address, should communicate with the national secretary to make sure that there is no mistake.

It is particularly necessary that the following members be located. Mail comes back from the addresses that are on record. Do you know where any of them are? If so, please advise the national secretary. The "lost list":

Toward Regulation of Fraternities

If It Is Not to Come, Members Must Show by Good Administration That It Is Not Necessary

By JAMES H. SPENCER, Zeta '31

National President

ONE of the most pronounced tendencies of our present era is the trend toward regulation. Those who have been unwilling to accept voluntarily their personal and social responsibilities have been forced to accept them whether or not they desired to do so. The college fraternity has not escaped.

From time to time the authorities of various educational institutions have believed it necessary to regulate the fraternities on their campus. Under present economic conditions it is not surprising that financial matters have received attention. Two interesting examples affecting chapters of Alpha Kappa Lambda have issued from the University of Wisconsin and the University of Michigan. Presumably conditions on the campus of each university were such that responsible authorities believed the steps taken to be advisable. There is no disposition on the part of the writer to offer opposition to these particular measures. But they do have significance insofar as they indicate that (1) the fraternities are failing to cope with their own problems and (2) this failure of the fraternities will result in measures which may eventually be detrimental to the fraternity system. From that viewpoint the Wisconsin and Michigan situations invite discussion.

The University of Wisconsin proposed, in brief, to extend certain aid to fraternities in the collection of house bills from their members, to give certain aid to the fraternities in securing information useful in selecting prospective new members, and to give "indorsement" of particular fraternities wherever possible. In return, the University exacted certain conduct on the part of the fraternities accepting benefits, including abolition of "Hell Week," certain restrictions on social functions, and maintenance of a graduate counsellor by the fraternity. Participation by fraternities in the plan was not required but was voluntary.

The University of Michigan imposed restrictions on all fraternities "at the request of the officers of the Interfraternity Council." Each fraternity is required to appoint an Alumni Financial Adviser who shall see that the fraternity files with the Dean of Students an operating budget, a monthly financial statement, a monthly balance sheet, and an audit at the end of the year. Beginning with the fall of 1935 no fraternity will be allowed to open if its unpaid accounts from the members active at any time during the preceding year exceed a total of $200.00, or its unpaid accounts payable exceed $500.00. Exceptions are possible in unusual cases.

Both universities stated that the regulations proposed were adopted for the purpose of aiding fraternities, and the writer is convinced that such was the spirit behind them. They are essentially different in nature. One, after the pattern of N. R. A., offers certain advantages in return for the assumptions of certain liabilities. The other, in the manner of Federal regulation of securities transactions, flatly imposes certain duties "for the good of the fraternities."

The action taken by the University authorities is inherently just. If fraternities had met their financial responsibilities to the public, and the members of each fraternity their responsibilities to one another, regulation would have been useless. Fraternities failed to do so, and the inevitable result was in fact requested by fraternities which were unable to solve their own problems.

Regulation of the Michigan type is bound to prove irksome, and may not always be adaptable to the needs of any particular chapter. The Wisconsin proposal is less obviously displeasing. But it always costs something to be governed, and the acceptance of benefits from the University must always carry with it the corollary of submission to unwelcome features. And university action of either type points the way toward more stringent control in the future.

It seems quite clear that one of the great benefits received from a fraternity affiliation is the training in self-discipline and self-reliance inspired by the necessity of furthering group cooperation and advantage. To the extent that cooperation is enforced by outside authority the fraternity loses a part of its value in the building of character. It is sad enough when educational authorities must impose restrictions which affect the relations of fraternity members with people outside the fraternity, and when the university must establish scholarship standards for prospective new members. But the control of a matter as peculiarly personal to the fraternity as the collection of house bills from its members is an even more depressing picture. And it points toward a future control of internal affairs which will be even more devitalizing to the college fraternity.

There is but one answer which the fraternity can make. It can preserve its own integrity through opposition to control only if it is able to show that control, however laudable its purpose, is unnecessary. We can escape regulation only insofar as we are not justly subject to criticism. The college fraternity must demonstrate its ability to meet its financial obligations promptly without unjust imposition on a part of its membership for the advantage of the remainder. It must demonstrate its ability to be, without outside prodding, a constructive force on the campus of which it is a part. Only in this manner can it prevent decay from within and oppression from without. The challenge is clear.

The Installation of Kappa Chapter

By HARRY E. SCHLENZ, Gamma '27
National Expansion Chairman

The Newest Unit of Alpha Kappa Lambda Inducted on May 20

ON the afternoon of May 20 at the Memorial Union building of Purdue university a group of forty-seven witnessed the installation of the Kappa chapter of AKL, and a group of twenty, three of whom were alumni of the new group, was initiated into Alpha Kappa Lambda.

So impressive was the final move of the installation activities, constituting a challenge as presented by James H. Spencer, national president, that it seems fitting that this portion of the service be reproduced herein as follows, with the hope that other AKL's who did not have the privilege of being present might recapture the full meaning of the charge:

"First: To labor unceasingly as a group to maintain the standards of Alpha Kappa Lambda, the standards of Christianity, of high scholarship, and of sacrificial leadership on this campus; and, more than these, to strive to keep alive through all obstacles that vital spark, the Spirit of Alpha Kappa Lambda, to become to Purdue university what Alpha Kappa Lambda has become and is to other universities.

"Second: To become, as a chapter, one of the family of Alpha Kappa Lambda; to share with the other chapters success and failure, joy and sorrow; to bear cheerfully and faithfully, where necessary, the burdens of other chapters, as they shall be ready to bear yours; to cooperate for the enduring success of Alpha Kappa Lambda, wherever found."

The events of the week-end marking the beginning of Kappa chapter were the final realization of the formation of a Purdue group of AKL having its beginning in the foundation set in the spring of 1931 by Brother Clayton M. Crosier, then national expansion secretary. The local group, "Cimmerian," was truly a colonized group built around a nucleus of aggressive Christian men, incentive being given to its formation due to the fact that it was apparent that there was not any single group on the campus possessing the high standards so necessary in forming a successful AKL chapter.

On Sunday morning an impressive initiation ceremony was conducted for the two sections of initiates into which the group had been divided, Brother Paul Prather of Gamma chapter being initiated at the same time. The principal parts were taken by National President James H. Spencer, Past National Treasurer W. J. Wessman, E. T. Burroughs, Zeta '29, and National Expansion Secretary H. E. Schlenz, while brothers from Gamma and Zeta chapters completed the personnel.

Following the initiation ceremonies, President Spencer discussed the intimate matters pertaining to our organization in an attempt to establish our new group of initiates on a firm foundation.

The installation banquet on Sunday afternoon which was characterized by the newly made friendships and brotherly atmosphere was presided over by Brother William H. Foland, Kappa '33.

In greeting the newly initiated members President Spencer not only extended the right hand of fellowship but gave the history of AKL as a fraternity upholding high standards.

Brother Virvan Silvers as the retiring (but not so retiring when it comes to work) past (and last) president of Cimmerian, responded by assuring the group that the newly initiated members would strive to be loyal AKL's. Dr. H. B. Hass, the faculty advisor of the group, and one who had done a great deal to build up the local organization extended his greetings.

It was evident from the large number of telegrams and greetings presented by the toastmaster from chapters not represented at the banquet, not to mention the pennants presented, that AKL's over the country were extending the right hand of fellowship to their new brothers.

M. S. Fisher, dean of men of Purdue university, indicated forcefully to the group that it was not the professing of "Fraternity Ideals" but the living of the ideals that was important. He asserted that it was nothing new for fraternal groups to be founded on the basis of high ideals, but that it was something new to continue to live in accord with them.

National Expansion Secretary H. E. Schlenz presented the membership certificates to the new brothers. The formal installation service followed.

Following are the charter members of Kappa chapter: Virvan C. Silvers, Charles M. Mainland, Edwin Mount, John G. Miller, Clarence Jacklin, Walter G. Newnam,

A Brief History of the Newest Chapter

In Cimmerian Fraternity at Purdue,
A Colonization Project Materialized

By H. H. HOLLIS
President of Kappa Chapter

THE installation of Cimmerian fraternity as Kappa chapter of Alpha Kappa Lambda marked the realization of the desires of those men, who in May, 1931, formed the nucleus of Cimmerian. Those men were desirous of doing more than forming a fraternity; they wanted to band together in order that they might further ideals which seemed to them to be of the utmost importance.

Clayton M. Crosier, who at that time was National Expansion Secretary, had investigated the possibility of forming a local group on the Purdue campus. He secured from Dean M. L. Fisher and the pastors of the several religious organizations the names of students who might be interested in forming a chapter. From the list of names which he procured four men accepted his invitation to form the nucleus of such a group. These men were Prentice Julian, William H. Foland, Maurice D. Irwin and Kenneth Conn.

In September, 1931, the Cimmerian fraternity, composed of F. L. Brown, R. E. Gray, J. R. Mainland, A. R. Padgett, A. C. Payne, K. D. Conn, W. H. Foland, R. H. Imes, M. D. Irwin, R. D. Bell, C. M. Mainland and E. J. Mount, first came into existence on the Purdue campus. Prentice Julian, a graduate of the spring of 1931, was also considered a charter member.

The constitution of Cimmerian was identical with that of Alpha Kappa Lambda, and the organization held the ideals of the national organization uppermost during its existence as a local fraternity.

The name Cimmerian was chosen because of the fact that a majority of the charter members were chemical engineers. The Cimmerians were a race of people of the Dark Ages who were metal workers.

The letter C, besides being the initial letter of Cimmerian, was also significant as the emblem of the ideals of the fraternity. These include Christian character, chivalry, courtesy, charity, consideration, competence, companionability, congeniality, chastity, civility, complacency, cosmopolitanism, cooperation, cordiality, conscientiousness, courage.

The first residence of the fraternity was the upstairs portion of a home rented by the housemother, Mrs. R. S. Hook. When the membership increased, a part of the lower floor was obtained for use as a lounge.

In 1934 residence has been taken in the former Chi Omega house which offers increased opportunity for comfort and expansion.

The chapter has been very active in religious work during its existence. Cimmerian has had leaders in the young people's organizations of all the larger denominations.

Purdue university has a student enrollment of approximately 4,000, about 2,000 of these being enrolled in the engineering school. The next largest school is that of agriculture, with science, home economics and physical education following in order. The university was founded in 1872, following the donation of land and money for that purpose by John Purdue. The university is now the Indiana institution of technology and applied science. Dr. E. C. Elliot has been president for the past ten years.

Financial Skies Brighten For National AKL

By FRANK HOWLETT, Jr., Beta '29

National Treasurer

National Treasurer Gives
Light on Fiscal Affairs
Through Economic Storm

NO financial statement for the fraternity has been published for several years. When one considers the economic conditions prevailing throughout the country, perhaps we have been better off than if we had been confronted with added worries concerning Alpha Kappa Lambda's ability to weather the storm. The accompanying statements will bear witness to the fact that we can now safely refer to the "Alpha Kappa Lambda depression" as a thing of the past, and look forward to a slow but steady climb with the comforting assurance that we have surmounted difficulties which have brought destruction to many organizations less conservatively administered.

At the last two national conclaves legislation was enacted that was destined to play an important part in placing the national treasury on a more sound and business-like basis than before.

The first of these resolutions was adopted by the seventh national conclave in 1930, at which time the old style of life membership pledges was abolished. These pledges were signed at the time of initiation for a portion of the member's life membership fee, to be paid in several installments before graduation. In many cases these pledges were not paid at the required time, resulting in decreased principal income for the national endowment fund. In abolishing these pledges provision was made for those cases where initiates were unable to make full payment of their initiation and life membership fees by instituting a system of "initiation notes." The effect of having to sign a formal note rather than merely pledging payment, has been to increase greatly the amount of actual cash payments. There are now still outstanding pledges amounting to over $1,000 which were signed prior to 1930; while initiation notes receivable as of June 30, 1934, amounted to only $457.50, and the majority of these are not yet due. A further advantage of the initiation notes is that they can be carried as definite assets, with practically full assurance that they will be paid.

The eighth national conclave passed a resolution prohibiting the use of the principal assets of the national endowment fund to meet current operating expenses. This move has forced the National Executive Council to adopt a very carefully prepared budget and to adhere to it as rigidly as possible.

The change in administration following the last conclave offered an opportunity to put into effect certain changes in the accounting system of the fraternity which were necessary in carrying out the provisions of the two above-mentioned resolutions and which were considered advisable in order that a clear picture of the financial situation might be had. The principal change was to divide the accounts of national treasurer's books into two distinct "funds," each being a complete entity in itself. These funds are known as:

(1) The general fund which consists of the operating income and expense accounts of the fraternity and also serves as a "clearing house" for the temporary or transient assets such as small accounts receivable, and initiation notes receivable; and

(2) The national endowment fund containing the principal income accounts (life membership fees and subscriptions), and the permanent assets, securities and National Endowment Fund notes. A complete discussion of this fund by Neil C. O. Brogger, a member of the National Endowment Fund board, will be found elsewhere in this issue.

The fiscal period for the fraternity has been changed to end June 30, rather than December 31, as heretofore for the reason that the summer is our time of least activity and affords a logical time for an accounting review. The auditor's report as of June 30 covers only a nine months' period due to the fact that the previous report made at the time of the change in administration was dated October 1, 1933.

The following table of general fund assets has been compiled from the statements contained in the auditor's reports of October 1, 1933, and June 30, 1934:

	Oct., 1933	June 30, 1934
Cash in commercial account (Crocker First National Bank) .....	$290.01	$ 558.21
Accounts receivable (bond premium due from chapter) .....		5.00
Initiation notes receivable .....	430.00	457.50
Funds in closed bank (University State Bank, Champaign) .....	174.17	161.73
TOTAL ASSETS .....	$894.18	$1,182.44
Less:
Due to national endowment fund* .....	320.00	278.76
NET WORTH (GENERAL FUND) .....	$574.18	$ 903.68

* This account covers that proportion of initiation notes belonging to the national endowment fund as life membership fees, as well as national endowment fund cash temporarily carried in the general fund commercial account.

Explaining the National Endowment Fund

By NEIL C. O. BROGGER, Beta '32

Member, National Endowment Fund Committee

SINCE there undoubtedly are many members unacquainted with the financial set-up of National Alpha Kappa Lambda, this report may serve to inform them, for the first time, about our national endowment fund. The national treasurer has confined the scope of his report to the general fund, and the following is an accounting of the national endowment fund for the fiscal period ending June 30, 1934.

The first formal meeting of the present board was held on January 15, 1934. Since that date regular meetings have been held monthly, and all the members have attended with a seriousness and desire to serve compatible with their responsibility. When National Treasurer Frank Howlett, Jr., presented the appointments for approval by the National Executive Council, he based his selections on such qualifications as experience, profession, proximity to meeting place, and willingness to work. The present members are:

Leslie H. Peter, Jr., insurance broker, past president of Beta and former treasurer of the board of trustees of Beta chapter. He has had several years' experience as a banker and cashier of the San Francisco office of a New York brokerage firm.

Frank H. Bloomer, Alpha '08, insurance agent and former national secretary. Brother Bloomer's keen interest in the affairs of National Alpha Kappa Lambda has been a material addition to the board.

Neil C. O. Brogger of Beta is at present associated with one of the local banks as a securities statistician. He is treasurer of the board of trustees of Beta chapter.

Frank Howlett, Jr., of Beta, national treasurer, is a member of the board as one of the duties of his office. Brother Howlett's experience as a practical business man influences the board to conservative and sensible policies.

Frank Waring, Ph.D., of Alpha, past national president, (recently resigned from the board) was an outstanding member. Appointment of his successor is now being considered by the National Executive Council.

At the first meeting of the board, general policies to be subsequently pursued were discussed at length and adopted. It was decided to follow a conservative policy in regard to purchase and sale of securities. While income return might be lower, the principal would be safer, it was felt.

In regard to loans to needy and deserving active members of collegiate chapters, it was decided to require that all notes executed to make such loans be co-signed or endorsed by the board of trustees of his chapter. By thus extending the responsibility attached to each note, possibility for loans to responsible persons is enhanced.

That the National Endowment fund board has been successful in carrying out its basic policies is indicated by what it has so far accomplished. It was from time to time found discreet and necessary to sell two very poor securities and exchange one on an approximately even basis for another appearing to have better long-term potentialities. The following table is a résumé of the operation of the securities account for the fiscal period ending June 30, 1934:

SECURITIES ACCOUNT
Market Value of Securities if no Sales had been made .....	$3,777.03
Market Value of Present Holdings .....	$3,117.50
Net Cash Proceeds from Sale of Securities .....	4,009.33
Gain on Operation of Securities Account .....	$ 232.30
As the table indicates, a gain of $232.30 was made by making the one switch and the two sales. Notes Receivable increased for the fiscal period by $900 as follows:
NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FUND NOTES RECEIVABLE ACCOUNT
Notes owned as of October 1, 1933 .....	$1,200.45
New notes received .....	$1,200.00
Notes paid .....	300.00
Net Increase in Notes Receivable .....	900.00
Notes owned as of June 30, 1934 .....	$2,100.45

The national endowment fund has three important functions: (1) to provide income for use of the general fund, i. e., funds for the maintenance and actual operating expenses of National Alpha Kappa Lambda; (2) to provide funds for loans to students who are active collegiate chapter members and to active collegiate chapters; and (3) to build up a reserve for National Alpha Kappa Lambda in order that our fraternity may have sufficient financial resources to tide over lean years and unforeseeable contingencies. The two following paragraphs will be devoted to showing how the national endowment fund fulfilled these functions during the fiscal period ending June 30, 1934.

Because other income sources of the national treasurer are inadequate to meet expenses, it is necessary that all interest income (not principal) of the national endowment fund be transferred to the general fund. During the past fiscal period such income was:

INCOME ON INVESTMENTS—NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FUND
Fiscal Period Ending June 30, 1934
Interest from Securities .....	$308.05
Interest from National Endowment Fund Notes .....	75.76
Interest from Savings Account .....	20.71
Total Income .....	$404.52

Present regulations permit members of each collegiate chapter to make loans aggregating not more than $200. Any brother wishing to avail himself of this assistance should make application to the national treasurer through his chapter's board of trustees. On June 30, 1934, loans of this category held by the national endowment fund amounted to $1,375. Besides lending money to members, the national endowment fund has in the past been able to lend a limited amount ($725.45 on June 30, 1934) to collegiate chapters. Periods of economic stress, expansion of quarters, furniture additions and other contingencies have caused loans to be made.

As indicated by the statement below, the assets of the National Endowment Fund increased by over $2,200 dur-

Financial Skies Brighten

It will be noted that there has been a small dividend paid during the past year on the funds held in the closed University State bank of Champaign, Ill. There will be further dividends paid in the future, but it cannot be safely assumed that the entire amount will be recovered. At the close of the present fiscal year, a substantial reserve will be established against this amount.

While the above table shows that there has been a slight increase in the amount of initiation notes held in the general fund, the following data will be of value to illustrate the activity in this account:

Initiation Notes held on Oct. 1, 1933.....	$430.00
Initiation Notes paid in full during year.....	175.00
	$255.00
New Initiation Notes received during year.....	202.50
Initiation notes receivable as of June 30, 1934.....	$457.50

Every effort is being made to collect these notes as rapidly as possible, as it was not the intention that initiation notes should be long term loans, but rather that they serve as short extensions of time for payment of fees by those members temporarily unable to meet these obligations at the time of initiation. For this reason initiation notes are never issued for a longer period than one year and interest at the rate of 6 per cent is charged to encourage early payment.

The accompanying income and expense statement is an excerpt from the report of examination as presented to the National Executive Council by the auditor. In order that a comparison may be possible between the budget as drawn up at the beginning of the period and the actual income and expense, the estimated items have been included in the statement. In establishing the 1933-34 budget all expenses were estimated at the lowest possible figure consistent with past experience. It will be seen that the estimated income for the period was exceeded in every instance by the actual income, and that, while the actual expense was slightly in excess of the estimated amount, the increased expense was entirely due to the cost of installing Kappa chapter, the income from which more than compensated for the increased expenses.

While on the subject of income, it is of interest and importance to note that the largest source of income, initiation fees, is also the one subject to the most fluctuation. The entire membership of the fraternity should be fully cognizant of their responsibility in maintaining this particular item of income at the highest possible figure by doing their share toward securing names of eligible men for the active chapters. It is only by the highest degree of cooperation on the part of the alumni as well as the various chapters that Alpha Kappa Lambda will be able to attain that position of financial independence toward which we are striving.

The budget for 1934-35 has been prepared on the same conservative basis as that for the previous period, due consideration having been given to certain unusual items which occurred during the past fiscal year and will not recur during the current period.

In closing I wish to express my appreciation for the support and cooperation on the part of the active and alumni chapters, as well as that of the many individual members who have contributed to the successful showing for the past year. By continued efforts as a well organized and harmonious group we can go far toward our goal.

News from the Active Chapters

Alpha

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

ROBERT KING, '37, Chapter Editor

This year Alpha chapter started off with a bang. Due to last semester's rushing, and a lot of hard work by Pres. Roy Stephens, there were enough inside men to fill the house. In addition to this, the house had been reconditioned during the summer so that it was ready for the activities that we wished to carry out this fall.

In the middle of September four new members were initiated: Charles White, James Ramage, Robert Chapman, and William Morris.

The results of a period of intensive rushing are nine new pledges, and a number of good prospects. Including the men held over from last year, we now have nineteen pledges. They are: Donald Burdick, Paul Day, son of a former AKL, Earl Dosssee, Dorland Drury, Max Fiedler, Lee Garner, Robert Herwig, Fred Holmes, another son of an AKL, Harry Hoyt, Bill Karr, Arthur McLaughlin, Harry Osmer, John Parker, Orin Phillips, Bruce Rider, Robert Robertson, Leslie Shaffer, Don Tickner, and Frank Wilkins.

This year the Dean of Undergraduates had a pleasant surprise for Alpha chapter when he placed it first on the list in scholarship among the fraternities on the campus. One of the reasons for this standing is that John Senger has brought further honor to the house by being elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

One of the first events was the meeting of the East Bay Alumni chapter at Alpha. The speaker of the evening was Doctor McCall, an honorary member of Alpha. Early in September, a pledge dance was held. Life-size caricatures of the pledges were dressed and hung on the walls. Eighteen of these caricatures filled practically all of the available wall space. A few weeks later a radio dance was held at the house. Novel lighting effects for these dances were arranged by Earl Janssen. Interspersed through the semester, we have had a number of rush dinners.

October 10, the mothers and fathers of members who live in and about Berkeley were guests at dinner. Mr. Hennessey, a close friend of the house and principal of one of the local schools, spoke. A magic show furnished entertainment.

October 17 was the date of the annual alumni dinner of Alpha chapter. The report of the board was read, and a new board was elected. The new board members are: Art Bivens, Bob Darter, Jim Heinz, Wally Miller, and Bruce Zimmerman. It was also announced that Bruce Zimmerman would be the chapter counselor. Upon adjourning to the chapter room, Wally Boggs, '11, one of the engineers on the new Low Level Tunnel in Oakland, gave an illustrated lecture concerning the tunnel.

For the future, the social chairman, Richard Dietz, has planned some radio dances and the regular Fall Informal. This year the Informal is to have a Chinese theme. The day of the Big Game with Stanford, Alpha will have open house. Cooperating with national AKL Sunday, Alpha attended Doctor McCall's church for the first Sunday. The next Sunday we shall attend the church of Doctor Cleland, a founder of AKL. On the third AKL Sunday we plan to attend the church at which Fred Stripp, the National Chaplain, is assistant pastor.

Interfraternity sports this year have been fairly successful.

Beta

STANFORD UNIVERSITY

RANDOLPH W. HILL, '35, Chapter Editor

Beta chapter is starting out the new year under the able leadership of Preston Mulcahy, our new prexy.

Charles Cooper, Walter Radius, and Neil Brogger were reelected at a recent alumni board election, with John Ferguson as the only new member.

Charles Burkett is following in the footsteps of Preston Greene by fast becoming a hard-riding polo player. Andy Svlich will don the spikes to uphold the house honor in track with Paul Greene, one of our pledges who made his numerals. Burnett Mason is out for tennis, as usual, with fairly good prospects ahead. "Chuck" Wallace will be out for the basketball team at the beginning of the season, and "Hermit" Hill may venture again into the boxing ring.

Several alumni have returned to live in the house. Lloyd Thomas, one of the charter members of Eta chapter, is working for his Ph.D. in biochemistry, and is also working as an assistant therein. John Ferguson has returned for his second year at our business school. Charles Marple and David Bassett, both of A.K.K., a medical fraternity, are now going to medical school here, and every meal is made hideous by their "talking shop." Jim Dowrie, who spent a tough month at Hopkins Marine Station, also contributes his little bit to keep our stomachs upset.

Our pledges to date are Bob Irvine, Nathan Newcomer, Paul Greene, Alfred Carah, and Jim Rickles, who got his pilot's license during the summer, and who is fast getting the house air-minded. Several members have been taken up and given the works in his plane.

Alumni news is copious. Maclyn McCarty has married, has become a member of Nu Sigma Nu, medical fraternity, and is attending Johns Hopkins. Jackson Bennett has married Ruth Linhart and is working in a cement plant in Nevada. Elmore Eipper has married Flourette Steen, and is working for the Calco Chemical company in New Jersey. Dick Lean passed his bar examinations and is practicing law in San Jose. Bob Holden stowed away on a tramp steamer to South Africa, and is now working there in Johannesburg. It is interesting to note in passing that ten of our graduates are attending medical schools in various parts of the country. In addition to those already mentioned, we have Bob Watkins and John Kenny, also of Nu Sigma Nu, attending Stanford medical school. Northwestern Medical School claims James Keipp, Phi Rho Sigma; Phil Matsinger, A.K.K.; and Art Movius, Phi Rho Sigma. On the staff of the Stanford medical school we find Al Cox, instructor in pathology; Aubrey Rallins, instructor in surgery; and Charles Barnett, instructor in medicine and medical adviser to the students. Then there is Ernie Page, now a resident physician at L. A. County Hospital; and Lenard Wilbur, practicing medicine in Peiping, China.

Dave Bassett, a last year's graduate, is president of the Stanford Glee club. Leonard Pockman was awarded a scholarship in the physics department, and is back for his third year of graduate work. George Farrier is writing his master's degree on history of the far east. Grosvenor Cooper has picked up his heels and skipped off to Munich to study music. Gunther Detert is now attending law school at the University of California. Waldo Salt has assumed the weighty title of Director of Music and Dramatics at Menlo Junior College. Professor Emerson Lee Bassett, Mrs. Bassett, and Bill Bassett have gone to Honolulu for a year, during which time Professor Bassett will be on the staff of the University of Hawaii.

Gamma

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS
R. L. HULL, '37, Chapter Editor

Alpha Kappa Lambda at Illinois regained first position on fraternity scholarship after a two-semester setback at the hands of Beta Theta Pi. Our house average last semester was 3.983, a gain of .1836 over the previous semester and practically a straight "B." AKL has been first in fraternity scholarship seventeen out of the last nineteen semesters.

Under the skilled coaching of Leonard Becker, '36, Alpha Kappa Lambda won first place in the interfraternity sing last spring. The sing is held annually and is sponsored by Schem, junior mens' activity organization. Speaking of singing, Gamma is well represented in the Illini Varsity Glee Club, nine of its members being AKL's. Len Becker is secretary of the organization.

The AKL's had a great homecoming this fall with about thirty alumni and their wives and friends back to visit and talk over old times. Illinois' victory over Ohio State added to everyone's enjoyment of the week-end. Among the visiting alumni was Len Grable, '28, who played tackle with Red Grange. By the way, AKL was honored during homecoming by a visit to the house by Governor Horner. He said that he wanted to look over the boys who were first in scholarship.

Pledgemaster Jack Burns is in charge of a promising pledge class of sixteen. This makes a total of thirty-six men living in the house and with the town membership, we have a grand total of forty-four actives and pledges.

Paul Prather, '37, of Rockford is the latest Gamma initiate. He had the honor of being initiated by the national officers along with the members of the new Kappa chapter at Purdue.

John Strohm, Gamma president, is chief news editor of the Daily Illini. His column in the Illini, "Barnyard to Boneyard," is making history. Johnnie was one of the few senior men to be selected to Ma-wan-da, senior activity honorary journalism fraternity.

Dick Allyn, '35, is sporting a great big orange "T"; he is this year's senior interscholastic and circus manager. Bill Barrick, '36, is junior wrestling manager. We have three sophomore managers in the house: Leo James, intramural; Phil Ortman and Paul Moschel, baseball.

Gordy Jones, '34, received his "T" in track last spring. As a member of the championship Big Ten track team he also received a gold track shoe.

Paul Prather and Bud Trabert completely ran off with the intramural gym meet last spring. Paul won three firsts and a second; Bud captured first place on the flying rings. They are both members of the varsity gym team this year.

AKL won the fall intramural track meet mainly through the efforts of Jim Pierce, '36, who captured two first places and a second. Leonard Nitz was third in the century dash. For the third straight year our relay team was first.

In soft ball Jim Rainey pitched a one-hit game as AKL beat Tau Delta Phi 2 to 0.

Other men in activities are Dale Streid, who has a junior position on the business staff of the Technograph; Johnnie Baldwin and Dick Hull, who are working on the Illio editorial staff; and Phil Ortman, who is a sophomore manager on the Star Course.

Zeta

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN
MALCOLM L. DENISE, '35, Chapter Editor

The end of last year found us in possession of the second-place cup for intramural athletics, with first-place cups for tennis, horseshoes, and relays. Our position in the scholarship race we don't choose to mention in such distinguished society, but it was considerably better than average.

The officers for this year are: Gene Eisenhower, president; Bob Allen, vice-president; Gordie Stow, recording secretary; Bob Reinhart, corresponding secretary; Dick Brandt, treasurer; and Chuck Zink, steward and house manager.

The house itself is in improved condition. Several of the fellows have redecorated their rooms, and there have been a number of minor improvements. Chuck Zink is the gent whose innumerable services are somewhat belittlingly blanketed under the term, "minor improvements." There is talk of a couple of new showers. For the statistical mind, there are nineteen men living in the house and twenty-one at the table. The indications are for a full house next semester.

Jim Cook is in charge of rushing. Since the last published reports we have pledged eight, to-wit: Gordon Jaynes, '36, Detroit; Bill Burroughs, '37, Flint, Mich. (Ted's brother); Earl Getkin, '37, Elmira, N. Y.; George Brumbaugh, '38, Cleveland Heights, Ohio (A. Kyle, jr.'s brother); Wallin Ladd, '38, Sebawaing, Mich.; Ray Gelinas, '36, Newton, Mass.; Kermit Webb, '38, Oak Park, Ill.; Bud MacIntosh, '38, Chicago (Scotty's brother, to you recent grads).

Miscellany worthy of note: Willard Hildebrand is on the varsity football squad for the third year as a regular . . . Taylor Drysdale is co-captain of the swimming team, headed for another national championship . . . Jim Cook is on the Executive Committee of the Union, and his penchant for affairs political is as yet uncured . . . Chuck Haskins is also on a Union Committee . . . Dave Winkworth is circulation manager of the Michigan Daily . . . Jack Shannon, Bob Allen and George Wheeler are varsity bandsters . . . and George has his own "aukestra" . . . Bill Burroughs is in the glee club . . . and Bob Reinhart in Choral Union . . . Jarvy Dean got his frosh numerals in tennis last year, and will be a strong contender for a varsity berth this year . . . Gordy Steele occasionally wins bridge tournaments . . . Gordy Stow is on the S. C. A. board . . . Elton Knapp has left Ann Arbor in favor of Annapolis this year.

As to our alumni of last year: Paul Pryor is doing color photography research for General Motors in Detroit . . . Willie Wilcox is with Dow Chemical at Midland . . . Butch Kugler is with DuPont in Buffalo . . . Cliff Friend is somewhere on the continent of North America holding down an executive job with the Boy Scouts . . . Joe Steigerwald, when last seen, was haunting automobile manufacturers in Detroit, and by this time has no doubt broken down somebody's resistance.

Descending somewhat further into the past, we find as worthy of note that: Jule Ayers has married Faith Ralph, his old S. C. A. sidekick, and that both are now going to Columbia . . . that Jim Spencer, our own prexy, is married . . . that the same applies to Max Veach . . . that Sam Brown is now undergoing that last feeble shudder before the final bagging . . . that pretty soon we should be getting some heirs to pad our rushing . . . that Ted Burroughs made a bad start, producing an Alpha Chi prospect instead of an AKL.

Eta

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE
DONALD MORRISON, '35, Chapter Editor

This fall sees our chapter with brighter prospects than for several previous years. We have bought a house and lot—the same house the Diversity club occupied before they became the present Alpha Kappa Lambda on this campus. The house has been remodeled and the grounds have been greatly improved so we have a home that we are proud of. Fourteen men are living in the house and we have three pledges and one member living outside.

Harry May from Okanogan, whose brother John was a charter member, is a new pledge. He is studying mining engineering.

Paul Taylor from Yakima, majoring in Agriculture, is also a new pledge.

Melvin Potter, Connell; Victor Aumann, Lacrosse; Kenneth Lawrence, Tacoma; Karl Jones, Tacoma; and Joe Wolff from Garfield are promising young men who pledged late last spring.

Of the four graduates of last year:

Stanley White, a chemistry major and a good musician, is in California trying to work into radio programs.

Calvin Sutherland has received a ministerial scholarship from Yale and he is attending there this year.

Wesley Ellis is at present employed by the U. S. D. A. and is working with soil erosion experiments in Montana.

Harold Brown, a sociology major, has not been so fortunate in obtaining a position in his line, but he is working.

Gustave Bliesner, '33, has a position in a county office obtaining wheat allotment data.

Wendell Prater, '34, has just been elected president of the associated engineers.

Alfred Butler, our new president, is varsity debate chairman.

Fred Dennis has again accepted the treasurer's job, which means a lot to the house, for Fred has a great business head.

Roy Lowell, who has been out of school a year, is with us again and he gives the campus some wonderful music on his many instruments. He is in a campus orchestra.

Johnny Danielson, active in college dramatics, is taking one of the leads in the first play this season.

Roy Hansbury, '31, Claud Peeve, '31, and Al Linderbloom, '28, took the plunge into the sea of matrimony this summer.

Iota

KANSAS STATE COLLEGE
WAYNE S. SCOTT, '36, Chapter Editor

Iota began the fall semester this year in a big way by being awarded first place in scholarship for the spring semester of last year. For several years the chapter has placed second in the competition.

Officers who will lead the chapter during the coming semester are: Roy Crist, president; Maurice Wyckoff, vice-president and rush captain; Wayne Scott, recording secretary; and Warren Rowland, corresponding secretary. Bernard Beaver retains his office as treasurer for another semester, as does Glenn Young, house manager.

Rushing for the year hasn't gotten well started as yet, but already two new men have pledged: Wayne Freeman, Kirwin, Kansas; and John Rufener, Strong City, Kansas. Both boys are enrolled in the division of agriculture.

Dean Dicken, Hy Rothganger, and Richard Burdge, pledges from former years, are back with us again.

The largest group in the history of the chapter was initiated last spring. Those initiated: Willard Challen-der, Don Cornelius, David Crippen, Woodrow Rufener, Wayne Scott, Arthur Willis, Maurice Wyckoff, Fred Hill, Eugene Schafer, and Carl Rupp.

Roy Crist and Arthur Willis are members of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet. Maurice Wyckoff is vice-president of the Methodist student organization. Other Iotans who are officers in the same organization are: Roy Crist, treasurer; Arthur Willis, personnel chairman; and Wayne Scott, recreation committee. Richard Burdge is vice-president of his Sunday School class, and editor of the weekly paper published by the Christian Endeavor. Glenn Young is secretary of his Sunday School class.

Maurice Wyckoff tied for first place in horse judging at the contest held at the American Royal stock show in Kansas City, October 20. Others from this chapter who attended the show were Raymond Dicken and Carl Rupp. Raymond was a member of the crops judging team.

The partial lifting of the depression was too much for many of the brethren, and chocolates and cigars have been forthcoming in great numbers. Harold McElroy, '33, John Schafer, '32, and William Steps, '31, have been married since the last Logos appeared.

Engagements have been announced by Sidney North, '33, Ferrol Cowan, '32, Howard Kindsvater, '35, Roy Crist, '35, Frederick Hill, '34, and Woodrow Rufener, '35.

Many alumni were back for homecoming this fall. The chapter entertained with a "shindig," which wasn't quite as crowded as some of the dances in town.

Our alumni are now well scattered over the country. Warren Lyttle, '33, and Clarence Brehm, '32, are both hunting oil with seismograph parties. Lyttle is in Oklahoma, and Brehm in Louisiana.

Sylvester Keller, '33, and Wilbur Naylor, '31, are working with the soil erosion survey at Mankato, Kan. Donald Christy is with the same service at High Point, N. C.

Kappa

PURDUE UNIVERSITY

W. B. SWANK, '35, Chapter Editor

Kappa chapter, after getting settled in its new location south of the campus, has a good start on its first semester as a chapter of Alpha Kappa Lambda. The new location is more satisfactory to our group this year and the rent is about twenty-five per cent less than we have been paying. We have fourteen fellows in the house with room for four or five more. We hope to get these before the end of the year.

With nine seniors, the problem of pledging came before our eyes very distinctly this fall. Previously, pledging activities have been put off until spring and consequently, the maximum quota was usually not reached. We have already about fifty per cent of our pledges and a number of others in mind.

Scholastically, we fell to third place last semester being three hundredths of a point below D. A. P., but we are trying hard to get back up to first or second by the end of this semester.

Our chaplain, Jim Stewart, is experimenting with an evening recess of about fifteen minutes, two or three evenings a week, devoted to open forum discussions of subjects of religious, social or currently political nature. The idea was copied from Gamma and it seems to take quite well with our group. As was the custom of Cimmerian before becoming Kappa of AKL, we have set aside the last Sunday of every month for group church attendance.

We have entered two teams in the Mohlman (interfraternity) debate tournament debating the question, "Resolved, That the manufacture and sale of munitions should be under federal control."

For the past month the back room has been the scene of the attempts of four EE's to get a "ham" radio station on the air for AKL here at Purdue. They collected dials, condensers, tubes, springs, etc., are gradually taking shape and in all probabilities we will have taken our share of the ether by the time this is printed. We are not sure of our call letters at this time but if you brother "hams" will drop us a card we will be glad to send you our call so that we can arrange "skeds."

Our soft ball team came out the little end of the horn this fall by losing three games out of six thus eliminating us from the final interfraternity contests. Skinkle, our house manager and treasurer, broke his ankle in one of the early games and has worn a cast for almost a month now. At present, we are banking our hopes on our cross-country track team. Harry Hollis, our president, is co-captain of the varsity track squad this year.

In spite of the fact that we are all engineers (devoid of all culture) we have already started to work on an entry in the all-fraternity "sing" to be held next spring.

Three of our Epsilon brethren, Janett, Tock and Cook, stopped for an overnight visit October 13. They were on their way to Terre Haute, Ind.

Two National Officers Take Step

National President James H. Spencer and Miss Alliene Graham of Detroit were married at Detroit on May 26. Brothers Sanborn Brown, Zeta '29, and Philip LaRowe, Zeta '26, were among the groom's supporters.

National Treasurer Frank Howlett, jr., and Miss Margaret Willis Evans of San Francisco were married on October 11. Dr. Ralph Walker, Beta '29, was best man. Logos Correspondent Frank Worthington of San Francisco writes that "Brothers Jack Whitsell and Frank Worthington, were the villains and their distasteful plot was frustrated by ye hero," without saying what the "plot" may have been.

Joins "Brain Trust"

Past National President Frank A. Waring, Alpha '24, Ph.D., professor of finance at Armstrong college, Berkeley, Calif., until assuming his new responsibility, has been called to Washington where he is now economist for the tariff department, United States department of state. His particular work is in the field of negotiations for reciprocal tariff treaties as embodied under an act of the recent congress.

Alpha Alumnus Writes Opera

The Metropolitan Opera company in New York City includes in its repertoire for the coming season The Eunuch, an opera composed by John Laurence Seymour, Alpha '17. Time magazine devoted its entire music department of the issue of July 2, 1934, to a discussion of the work and the composer. Recognition has also been given by the New York Times and other publications. Brother Seymour is known to the fraternity as the composer of music incorporated in the initiation ritual.

AMONG ALUMNI HERE AND THERE

Dr. Leonard F. Wilbur, Beta '28, sends greetings from Taiku, Shansi, China, where he is engaged in medical work after leaving the University of Pennsylvania hospital. Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur announce the birth of a daughter, Ruth Spaulding Wilbur, on September 7.

Kenneth G. Beggs, Epsilon '34, examiner for the bureau of personnel of the state of Wisconsin, writes that since he has been in his present position ten AKL's have been accepted for state jobs, "almost a chapter in itself."

The Detroit alumni correspondent reports the following births in that region: daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Ted Burroughs, Zeta '29; daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Emil Kaiser, Zeta '27; son to Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Smith, Zeta '27; and son to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Chalk, Zeta '28.

Philip LaRowe, Zeta '26, is now located in Detroit, being organist at the Church of Messiah.

Alec Duff, Theta '30, and Andy Matthieson, Theta '30, were scheduled to be candidates for the Washington state legislature at the fall state election, being nominees of the New Order of Cincinnati which is the young men's reform party in and around Seattle. Duff was candidate for senator and Matthieson for representative. Duff promises to report more about the Order of Cincinnati later when not so busy. It is scheduled to be a nationwide organization, Duff writes.

Jim Bell, Theta '32, and Miss Shirley Beardsworth were married this summer. They live in Chicago where Bell is studying for the ministry.

National Endowment Fund

ing the past fiscal period. Six hundred dollars of this increase arose from inclusion of a note not included in the previous report. Thus, the actual increase in assets was $1,656.29.

STATEMENT OF ASSETS OF THE NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FUND

	Oct. 1, 1933	June 30, 1934
Cash .....	$ 661.23	$2,575.01
Notes receivable
From chapters .....	$ 125.45	$ 725.45
From members .....	1,075.00	1,375.00
Securities at market.....	1,200.45	2,100.45
Deferred deposit—cash	4,933.75	4,417.50
Oak Park Trust & Savings Bank .....	389.53	389.53
Due from general fund...	320.00	278.76
TOTALS .....	$7,504.96	$9,761.25

Except for the item, "securities at market," the above figures are taken from the audited report described in the national treasurer's report. In the audited report securities were on June 30, 1934, indicated at cost of $6,993.36 against which there was a "reserve for reduction of securities to market values" of $3,219.14. The increase of $1,656.29 in total assets arises from two sources: (1) market appreciation of securities and (2) cash income during the fiscal period. Since June 30 $2,000 in bonds were purchases, i. e., Southern California Gas Corporation first 5½ per cent due in 1952. This is a high-grade prior lien obligation of a well managed operating utility company.

The statement of income and expense for the fiscal period ending June 30, 1934, is as follows:

Income
Life membership fees .....	$1,265.00
Due from general fund on initiation notes receivable .....	155.00
Subscriptions to endowment fund paid .....	15.00
Total Income .....	$1,435.00
Expense
Loss on sale of securities .....	1,206.70
Net Profit .....	$ 228.30

"Loss on sale of securities" does not involve an actual cash outlay and is merely a bookkeeping entry; $3,000 principal amount of bonds costing $2,140.00 were sold to net $933.30.

While the past fiscal period has not been all that might have been desired, results on the whole have been satisfactory and perhaps slightly gratifying. Sound and conservative policies have been followed, and the board is gradually improving the quality of the investments. The board has attempted to give the "fund" serious and conscientious effort and attention, and the past year's experience has augmented its ability to serve in a more efficient manner. All the members appreciate the cooperation and consideration manifested by the National Executive Council, Walt Wessman, former national treasurer, and other brothers with whom it has come in contact. Being cognizant of the fact that a strong financial position for a growing fraternity is necessary, the National Endowment Fund board wishes to declare its sincerity of purpose to accomplish that end.
